Watson Caring Science and Middle Eastern Nurses Uniting in Human Caring

This one and half day professional intellectual and experiential human caring program will address global critical, clinical nursing issues in our everyday practice. The sessions include universality of human caring, ethical dilemmas, overcoming burnout, end of life care and other topics deepened by theory, philosophy and practices of Caring Science.

This first of its kind gathering is convened by Dr. Jean Watson and Watson Caring Science Institute, an international non-profit foundation in USA; this event is held in collaboration with nurses in the Middle East, Institute of HeartMath, Healing Healthcare Systems, and Conscious Global Leadership Institute, and the International Association in Human Caring in North America.
